

Dear [Name of MP]

I'm writing to you about a very important issue. On the 12th June MPs will be voting on the EU Withdrawal Bill. There is one greatly important amendment which will guarantee safe and legal routes for refugee children to reach safety.

I'm asking you to attend the debate and please vote for Lord Dubs Amendment to the EU Withdrawal Bill to protect family reunification for refugees.

As you know unaccompanied refugee children face significant risks and dangers and are in urgent need of safeguarding.

One crucial lifeline for such refugee children is family reunification under Dublin III regulations. However this is possibly under threat once we leave the EU.

This amendment will protect legal and safe passages for refugees to be reunited with their families here in the UK once we leave the EU. It is fair to say this amendment has the potential to save lives and will offer safety to refugees fleeing appalling circumstances.

It is vital that we continue to play a role in providing safety and security for refugees fleeing violence, conflict and severe human rights violations.

Thank you for your support on this issue.

Best wishes
